Welcome from the Officer-in-Charge

W. Todd Baker
Officer-in-Charge,
2026 Annual Meeting
AIPLA Second Vice President

On behalf of AIPLA, I am pleased to invite you to join us this October in Washington, DC, for the 2026 AIPLA Annual Meeting.

This year's theme, IP Horizons: Navigating Innovation, AI, and Global Change, reflects a pivotal moment for the intellectual property profession. Rapid advances in artificial intelligence, accelerating technological innovation, and evolving global legal and business developments are reshaping the way we practice and counsel our clients. The Annual Meeting will provide an opportunity to explore these developments, exchange perspectives with colleagues at every stage of their careers, and consider what lies ahead for our profession. In a time of rapid change, both fresh viewpoints and seasoned experience are essential to understanding where IP is headed and how we can help shape its future.

We are assembling a program designed to be both thought-provoking and practical, featuring timely CLE sessions, interactive Skills Workshops, and opportunities to engage with colleagues from across the intellectual property community. Whether your focus is patents, trademarks, copyrights, litigation, licensing, or emerging technologies, you will find valuable insights and meaningful opportunities for professional growth.

Just as importantly, the Annual Meeting offers a chance to reconnect with friends and colleagues, build new relationships, and strengthen the professional community that makes AIPLA unique.

I hope you will join us in Washington this October for what promises to be an engaging and rewarding program. I look forward to welcoming you personally and sharing an exceptional Annual Meeting experience with you.

Don't Be the Villain: Brand Enforcement Without the PR Nightmare

Protecting your brand is non-negotiable…until the internet decides you're a bully. Van Leeuwen's ice cream dust-up, Buc-ee's cease-and-desist campaigns, Patagonia's enforcement play book. Recent cases show that how you enforce matters as much as whether you enforce. One heavy-handed letter to the wrong target and your trademark win turns into a PR disaster.

CONCURRENT CLE TRACK 2 - 3:15 - 4:15 PM Ethics CLE

Pro Bono: Practical Considerations (for Public Service)

Under Section 32 of the AIA (2011), Congress directed the Director of the USPTO to work alongside IP law associations nationwide to establish pro bono programs. This mandate established support to financially under-resourced gender, racial and ethnically diverse inventors, and small businesses. Congress recognized financial disparity prevented diverse, independent talent from protection for their ideas and valuable innovation. Data tracked by the USPTO demonstrates that these clinics and regional offices successfully bridge underrepresented demographic groups facing systemic barriers to entry. This insightful and inspirational one-hour ethics panel brings together esteemed experts from the USPTO-OED, the Pro Bono Advisory Council (PBAC) and the Federal Circuit Bar Association (FCBA) discussing the personal and professional benefits of providing pro bono services through well established and insured Regional Offices and clinics. Learn how you can safely participate in pro bono, grow your own practice, and most importantly give back using your gifts, skills, and acumen.

Moderator: Georgann Grunebach, Grunebach Law, Beverly Hills, CA

Speakers:

Grant Corboy, USPTO OED, Reisterstown, MD

Kirk Damman, Lewis Rice LLC, St Louis, MO

Stephen Maebius, Foley & Lardner LLP, Washington, DC

ETHICS

Ethics- Artificial Intelligence vs. Real Integrity: Lessons from Recent OED Disciplinary Actions and Federal Guidance

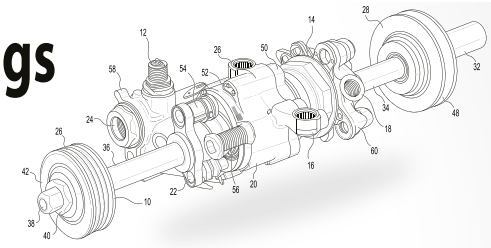

As artificial intelligence tools become integrated into patent and trademark workflows, practitioners face unique ethical challenges under the USPTO Rules of Professional Conduct. This session, hosted by the Office of Enrollment and Discipline (OED), will examine the intersection of generative AI, practitioner misconduct, and systemic fraud prevention.

Using recent enforcement actions, such as the landmark public reprimand in In re Brian E. Mitchell (Proceeding No. D2026-16), this presentation explores the boundaries of practitioner competence, reasonable inquiry, and the duty of candor. Attendees will gain an understanding of why relying on one AI tool to verify another does not satisfy ethical obligations, and how "hallucinated" citations can directly trigger OED investigations.

Speaker: Kimberly Kelleher, OED Director, USPTO, Alexandria, VA

FIRST TIME AT THE ANNUAL MEETING?

WELCOME!

WE'RE GLAD YOU'RE HERE.

#aiplaAM26

Whether you're new to AIPLA, attending your first Annual Meeting, or both, we're excited to welcome you. The Annual Meeting is designed to help you learn, build connections, and become part of the AIPLA community. Here are a few tips to help you make the most of your experience.

New Here? Start Here!

Make the most of your #aiplaAM26 experience from the moment you arrive! Join us for the First-Time Attendee & New Member Orientation on Thursday, October 29, at 7:45 a.m. in Redbud. Connect with fellow attendees, get insider tips for navigating the meeting, and have all your questions answered before the Annual Meeting officially begins.

Attend the First-Time Attendee & New Member Reception

Already had a chance to connect? Continue building your network at the First-Time Attendee & New Member Reception on Thursday, October 29, at 6:00 p.m.

This casual event is a great opportunity to meet fellow first-time attendees, connect with AIPLA leaders and members, and start building your network.

Pick Up Your First-Time Attendee Ribbon

When you pick up your badge, be sure to get a First-Time Attendee/New Member ribbon and wear it throughout the meeting.

It's an easy way to let other attendees know you're new. AIPLA leaders, mentors, and longtime members actively look for these ribbons and make an effort to introduce themselves, answer questions, and help you feel welcome.

Say Hello!

One of the best parts of the Annual Meeting is the people you'll meet.

Don't hesitate to introduce yourself, strike up a conversation before a session, or join others at networking events. You'll find AIPLA members are welcoming, approachable, and eager to help you make connections.

Attend the Networking Receptions

From the First-Time Attendee/New Member Reception to evening networking events, receptions offer a relaxed environment to meet colleagues from across the IP profession.

Whether you're reconnecting with familiar faces or meeting someone for the first time, these informal conversations often become some of the most valuable moments of the meeting.

Download the Mobile App

The AIPLA Annual Meeting mobile app helps you:

- View the meeting schedule
- Build your personal agenda
- Connect with fellow attendees
- Receive important updates throughout the meeting

Be sure to download the app before you arrive so you're ready to go on day one.

Request a Mentor

First-time attendees can request a mentor during registration to help them navigate the meeting, make connections, and get the most out of the experience.

Explore the Exhibit Hall

Take time to visit the Exhibit Hall and meet AIPLA's exhibitors.

You'll discover innovative products, services, and technologies designed to support IP professionals—and have the opportunity to connect directly with industry experts.

Attend Sessions That Interest You

There are plenty of educational opportunities throughout the meeting, so don't feel like you need to attend everything.

Choose sessions that align with your practice, interests, or areas you'd like to learn more about—and don't be afraid to explore something new.

Ask Questions

Have a question about the meeting? Need help finding a session? Looking for recommendations?

AIPLA staff, committee leaders, and fellow members are happy to help. Don't hesitate to ask—we're here to make your first Annual Meeting a great experience.

We Can't Wait to Meet You!

We hope your first AIPLA Annual Meeting is both rewarding and enjoyable. We encourage you to take advantage of every opportunity to learn, connect, and get involved—you'll be glad you did

Helpful Hints:

Dress comfortably but professionally. Business attire is appropriate for most sessions and events, though business casual is common during daytime programming.

Bring business cards (or be ready to exchange LinkedIn information). Networking is one of the biggest benefits of attending.

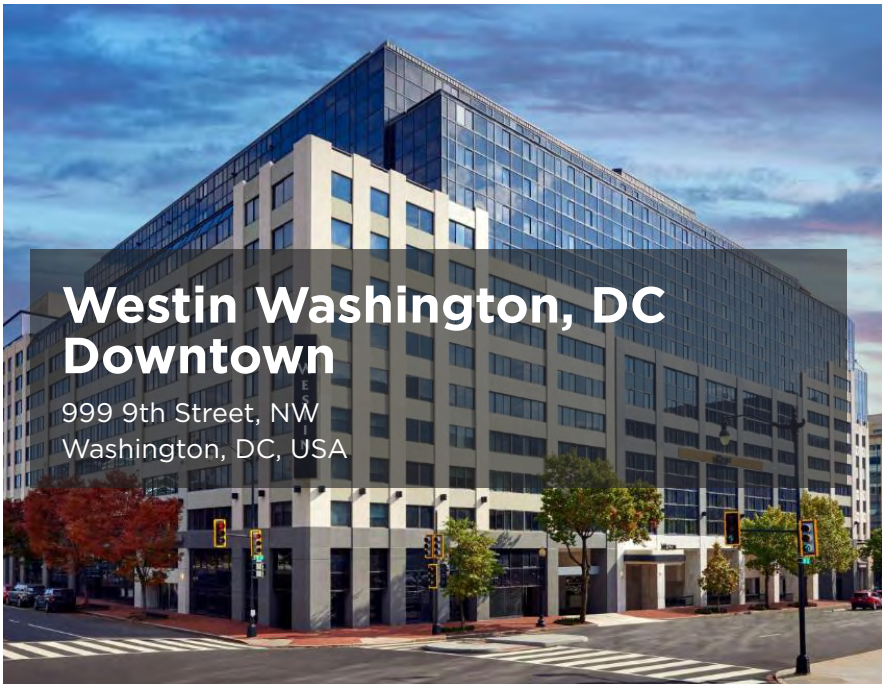

Don't be afraid to attend open committee meetings and events. Even if you're just listening, it's a great way to learn about AIPLA and meet members with similar interests.

Give yourself a few extra minutes between sessions. Those hallway conversations often lead to some of the best networking opportunities.

*Committee meetings are open to all attendees unless otherwise noted.
